System and Unit Test

Product name: Loanr,   Team name: The Boys,   Date:07/16/20.

Sprint 1:

User story 1: ("As a user, I want to able to have my own profile so that I can keep track of my own stuff instead of someone else that was using my device")

User story 2: ("As a registered user, I want the app to remember that I logged in so that it can connect me automatically, and I want to be able to log out")

Scenario:

1. Start Loanr app; enter user information if you have an account.

   - Username = <user email>
   - Password = <corresponding password>
   - Press Login button

2. For new user, creating a new account

   - Username = <email>
   - Password = <password>
   - Confirm password = <password>
   - Accepting Terms and conditions
   - Press Sign up button

3. Close and restart Loanr app, the app should remember a logged-in user

4. Press log out button to log out

Sprint 2:

User story 1: ("As a registered user, I want to able to manage my own app data so that I can keep tracking my user information")

Scenario:

1. Start Loanr app & login

2. Press the menu button in the upper left corner

   - Select item
   - Go to the selected page

Sprint 3:

User story 1: "As a regular user, I want to be able to create a transaction so that I can keep track item that is being loaned"

User story 2: "As a regular user, I want to be able to see my profile and edit it so that I can manage my user information"

Scenario:

1. Start Loanr app & login

2. Press the Plus button in the upper right corner

   - Create a transaction
     - Name of the item that is being loaned
     - Name of friend
     - Loan Date
     - Return Date
   - Press add button

3. Press the menu button in the upper left corner

   - Press profile button
   - Now profile information is ready to see and edit